International labor law

We not only assist you with your German labor law issues, we are also your trusted partner in international labor law matters, which we coordinate for you as a one-stop shop. International labor law issues are often complex and can lead to unexpected risks and costs for you. Together with our highly specialized labor law colleagues from the L&E Global alliance L&E Global, we can advise you worldwide and across borders, providing the same high-quality advice that you are accustomed to receiving from us.

We are one of the few labor law firms in Germany to have extensive specialist expertise in establishing European stock corporations (SE).

We can provide you with support for all labor law issues with an international dimension.

Specifically, we focus on:

- Cross-border projects such as restructuring, outsourcing or labor law aspects of M&A transactions
- International remuneration systems
- Cross-border matrix structures
- Cross-border harmonization of working conditions
- International policies
- International data exchange
- European works councils
- Cross-border work by employees and international secondments
